Grossmont Tax Override Gains Support

Spring Valley Kiwanis Club Unanimously Approves Move

The Spring Valley Kiwanis Club has given its support to the tax measure called for by the Grossmont Union High School District. The measure that will face voters in the Nov. 5 general election is the approval of a five year tax override of $2.98.

The Kiwanis Club's Board of Directors made the move on Oct. 2 at their regular meeting. The measure was unanimously approved by members of the club on Oct. 9 according to Verne Watts, Youth Services General chairman.

The new tax ceiling is being asked for by the district to replace the present level of $1.50 which expires in June.

State law requires the voter to approve any school tax levy above a basic 85 cents or $100 of assessed property valuation. The district has been operating under the current $1.50 ceiling for seven years.

They are asking for the increase to cope with past and future growth, continuing inflation and decreasing funds from the state and federal sources.

The districts receives around 44 per cent of its taxes on local real and personal property, including utilities. Another 51 per cent comes from the state in the form of basic aid, equalization and special purpose allocations.

The remaining five per cent comes from the National Defense Educational Act, ESEA, OEA, and federal impact funds.

The administration is asking for the ceiling for five years. The tax level would reach the $2.98 mark as needed.

Yearly Increase
Watts said, "For instance, the expected yearly increase would be about 30 cents, and this might not be needed if a change in growth, inflation, or decreasing outside support should occur.

"We are concerned about the disastrous effect on local high schools if the measure fails. We feel our greatest weapon against outside adverse forces attacking our society is education.

"Without education, we are lost," he concluded.

The administration of the district pointed out that the rate of growth of the pupil population along with the trends in the cost of living or inflation have made the new tax ceiling necessary.

The increase of 30 cents per year would represent to the owner of a home valued at $20,000 an increase of $15 in his taxes.

If the tax measure is defeated at the polls, the district would have to revert back to the 85 cent tax level for 1969-70. Another election would have to be scheduled in the spring for a second effort to pass a new tax ceiling.

Officials in the district said that if the override tax is not approved, a mass release of staff workers would be required.

Large Classes
The district has already the highest class size in the State. They also spend on the average $142 less per student than (Cont. on Page 8)

San Altos PTA Goes Against Proposition 9

Peggy Ryan, president of San Altos PTA announced that the organization has gone on record in opposition to Proposition 9, the "Watson Tax Trap Initiative", on the Nov. 5 ballot.

Her organization believes that Proposition 9 will cause havoc to the public elementary school children as well as to secondary and Junior College students.

"Every county and special service district such as fire districts, sewer and water districts would be forced to reduce services for all and offer no new services to the ninety-five people moving into San Diego County every day.

The California Water Project would be in jeopardy under provisions of this initiative," she said.

The Watson Initiative is a cruel hoax and its "Save Our School Propaganda" is vicious since this proposition harms schools and the very taxpayers it seems to help, she added.

Only a relatively few large land holders and real estate speculators would benefit to the tune of over one and one-half billion dollars per year and San Diego County especially would be hurt since so much of the northern part is held by men of wealth living elsewhere in the nation, waiting for the golden day of real estate opportunity, she said.

Mrs. Ryan said that impossibly high sales taxes approaching 12% and 300% increases in the Income Tax would cause hardship to millions and drive future industry to other states.

We want new clean industries in San Diego County to help provide property taxes for schools and services, she said. Mrs. Ryan said, "We can't have our cake and eat it too". If we want good schools and good services while attracting new industry we can't abolish 70% of all property taxes paid by a few and shift the load to industry, business and the homeowner.

She urges all who are concerned with the future of children and adults to vote "NO" on Proposition 9.

While Mrs. Ryan was making her presentation, the Board of Directors of the San Diego County Water Authority expressed, in an unanimous resolution, their opposition to the Proposition.

The Board said that they would support Proposition 1a which is an amendment that conflicts with the provision of the Watson Amendment, or Proposition 9.

Labor Disaster
Joseph Diviny, vice-president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters has also urged that people go against the measure.

He said that more than half a million jobs throughout the state will be thrown down the drain if it is passed.

He said, "I will be the biggest disaster to hit Calif. labor since the depression."

Diviny said that his analysis is based on official state estimates of the amount of bonds already authorized but unused in the state.

Homeowners Oppose
In a paragraph that appeared in a "Dear Tenant" letter, a leading Los Angeles real estate brokerage firm (The Wagner/Jacobson Co., Inc.) said that:

"We can promise you this: in the event Proposition 9 is not passed in Nov., your rent will be increased on Nov. 6 to compensate for the outrageous tax increase being foisted on us this year."

The Statewide Homeowners Association with 1,000,000 members in 87 homeowner groups throughout the state has also called for a "no" vote on Proposition 9 on the November ballot.

President John Nagy of San Diego warned that "Proposition 9 is a tax trap, not tax relief for the homeowner."

It would shift $1,400 million in additional taxes largely on to the backs of homeowners and other individual taxpayers and be a giant windfall to a few land speculators and large landowners and developers."

Nagy warned apartment owners and real estate investors that already a bill is being drafted for submission to the legislature if Proposition 9 passes, to eliminate depreciation allowances on real estate for income tax purposes.

Schaefer Fete May Draw 1,000

More than 1,000 persons are expected to attend a civic dinner honoring San Diego Councilman Mike Schaefer next Monday night.

Speaking at the $25-a-plate dinner will be Rep. John J. Rhodes of Arizona, chairman of the House Republican Policy Committee. He will be introduced by Henry A. Boney, chairman of the County Board of Supervisors and director of the Nixon for President campaign in San Diego and Imperial Counties.

Tickets for the dinner are available through all county Republican headquarters and at Schaefer for Congress Headquarters at 1726 N. Euclid, San Diego, 247 Davidson, Chula Vista, and at the office of the Lemon Grove Review.

Board Receives Petition

Salary Increase Improbable For Teachers

Ninety eight members of the Lemon Grove Teachers Association petitioned the school board Monday night for an increase in salaries. There are 159 teachers in all.

In a letter to the board, they pointed out that cost of living has risen five per cent but they had been granted an increase of only 1.7 per cent. They asked for increases to match some other districts where the salary level was five to six per cent higher.

Netzey conceded that salaries may be the answer. We can only say that if more money becomes available, we can adjust."

Concerned
Trustee Bob Sjogren voiced sympathy and concern. "We have a fine, professional faculty," he said. "I suspect that those who contemplate leaving will find other districts having similar problems shortly."

Superintendent Byron Netzey said that the L.G. Teachers Association did not have enough facts when they petitioned the board.

He reminded Bill Whitley, who presented the letter for the teachers, that the average salary this year is $9,011, up nearly $500 from the year before when it was $8,533. Whitley is salary chairman for L.G. DTA. Records show that several teachers earned raises of more than $1,000.

Netzey reminded that this year's 1.7 per cent provided an increase of $150 a year at the minimum.

Automatic Steps
He pointed out that automatic or "step" increases provided an average of $250 more. Then 47 teachers achieved a higher classification by attending school. These averaged $725 more a year, Netzey said.

An innovation this year was health insurance for which the District pays $159.70 for each teacher, he said.

"One of the problems is that 60% of our teachers have been with us a long time — for which we are grateful. But this puts a financial burden on the district that we cannot immediately meet," Netzey said.

He also warned that the reserve fund is 50% lower than recommended.

The letter will be the subject of additional study President Higdon said.

Crusade To Hit $8,000

"Lemon Grove and Spring Valley will reach their 1968 United Crusade combined quota of $8,000 by the close of the current campaign on November 6th."

This statement came from the Lemon Grove chairman, Joseph Davey. He is branch manager of Southland Savings & Loan.

Davey continued: "For the first time in many years Lemon Grove and Spring Valley have dedicated strong leaders who are talking success for the Crusade."

"We also have superior manpower in the various divisions of the campaign for complete coverage of accounts, a weak link in previous years."

Examples of the strong leadership are: Alex Woods, manager of the Lemon Grove branch Bank of America who heads the business division, along with Byron Netzey, superintendent Lemon Grove School District who is in charge of the public service division.

Also Donald Holland, de Oro branch Bank of America who is chairman of the Casa de Oro area, and Roy Williams, principal of La Presa Elementary School who is Spring Valley community chairman. Others include Phil Joordan of Cresta Loma Convalescent Hospital in the public service division and Frank Shughrue, manager of the Lemon Grove branch of Southern California First National Bank.

Shughrue is handling business accounts along with Dick Hendrick, Lemon Grove branch manager of U.S. National Bank.

GOP $100 Dinner Draws 800

Republican House Minority Leader Gerald Ford and Republican Congressman Bob Wilson, arriving late because of Washington commitments, had encouraging things to say about GOP chances for enjoying a House majority after Nov. 5.

They received a standing ovation from more than 800 guests who had paid $100 a plate (steak, potatoes, asparagus) at a fund-raising dinner Wednesday last week at Hotel del Coronado.

The pair were late because of the marathon, locked-in session regarding an equal teevee time bill.

Ford, from Michigan, is permanent chairman at the GOP National Convention. Wilson, up for re-election, anticipates little bother from his opponent.

A table of GOP nominees from various stages of government included Mike Schaefer and William Ayers. Incumbents Calif. Sen. Jack Schrade, U.S. Sen. Claire Burgener, U.S. Congressman Jim Utt were among those from this area at head tables.

BEAUTIES — Bonnie Brand, 15, won high point trophy on "Baby Doll" during a gymkhana at Pope Pius Catholic church in Jamul.

Name, Rank and Serial Number

Myriad state and county agencies contributing to the control of your existence, also exercise a control of sorts within themselves.

For example, when the Lemon Grove Masonic Temple and two public schools were ransacked recently, this newspaper's newsdesk desired to ascertain why the County Probation Department had released the two suspects after the Sheriff's Department had put a "hold" on the two culprits.

The two were back in Lemon Grove before the deputies charged with the job, could complete their reports.

Conversation with the Probation Department, condensed in the interest of space, went something like this:

"Operator, this is the newspaper. We want to talk to someone about the release of two suspects who ransacked two Lemon Grove schools over the week-end."

OPERATOR: "That information must come from the supervisor and he isn't in."

NEWSPAPER: "May we speak to a subordinate?"

OPERATOR: "I'll see if someone will take your call."

PROBATION SUBORDINATE: "What do you want?"

NEWSPAPER: "Sir, may we talk to you about the two rascals who ransacked two Lemon Grove schools?"

PS: "You'll have to get that information from the department supervisor."

NEWSPAPER: "What is your name, please?"

PS: "I am sorry, I am not permitted to give that information."

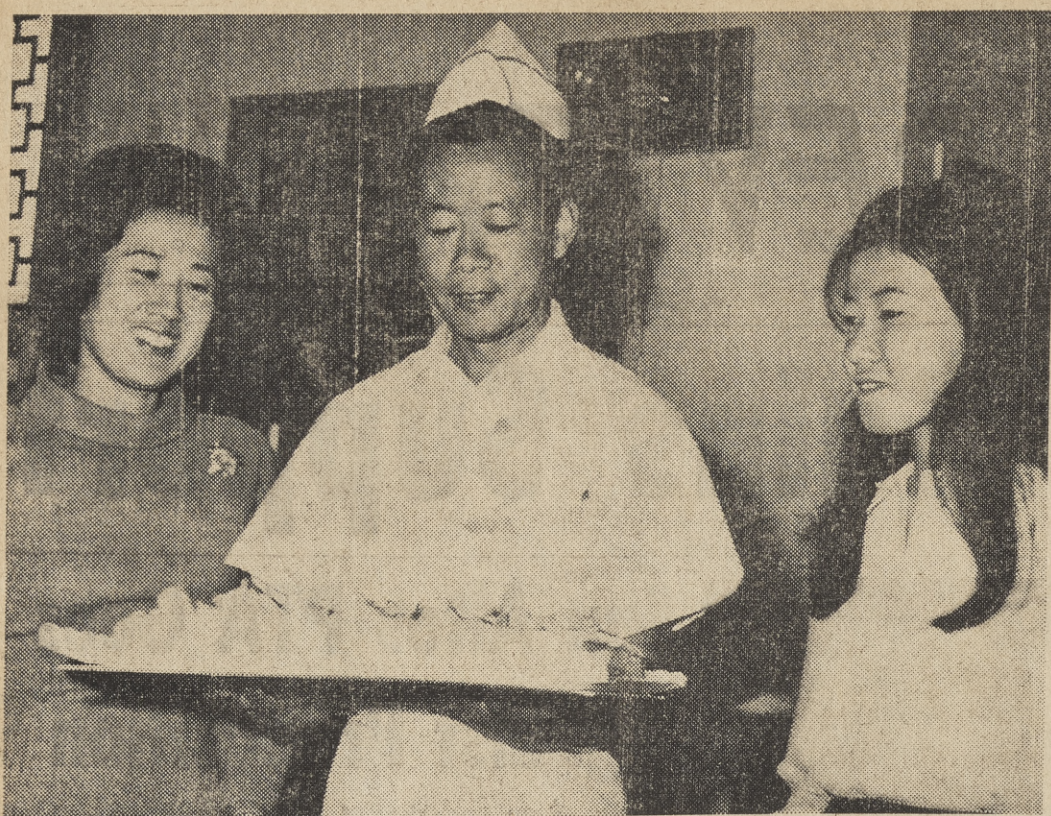

NEWSPAPER: "Would you tell me what position you hold in the Probation Department?"

PS: "We are not allowed to give out that information without specific permission from our supervisor."

NEWSPAPER: "Who is your supervisor?"

PS: "I can't tell you that but I will have him call you about your request."

Helix Slams Monarchs 19-0; John Landis Paces Victory

BY TOM WARREN

The Helix High School football squad not only won a football game Friday night but they found a running back also. The game was won 19-0 over the Monarchs of Monte Vista, and the back was junior John Landis.

Landis, who was brought up from the junior varsity squad the week before the game, scored two touchdowns in the shutout.

One of those, a 76-yarder, came on the first play of the second half and the other came in the fourth quarter on a run from the eight.

Both teams went scoreless in the first quarter of play, with Scot fullback Mike Stein putting over the first tally of the game in the second quarter.

The touchdown came on a four-yard plunge by the rugged senior.

Helix dominated all facets of play in the game, holding the Monarchs to a scant 46 yards in total offense while digging up 324 themselves.

The Highlanders, with "rookie" quarterback Steve Cooper at the helm most of the game, rolled to an impressive 224 yards on the ground and 100 in the air.

Monte Vista, on the other hand, chalked up only 17 yards on the ground and 29 in the air.

The Scots start their green machine rolling again this Friday night as they take on the Mt. Miguel Matadors at Mt. Miguel High School.

The Matadors have yet to score in three outings and will be looking for their first victory of the young season.

Monte Vista Harriers Whip Helix, 15-47

By Scott McGaughey

The Monte Vista High School Harriers took one step closer to winning another cross country league title as they whipped Helix 15-47 last Friday, on the loser's course.

Undefeated Dave Carter won the 1.9 mile course run with a time of 9:20 despite taking a wrong turn and having to wait until everyone caught up.

Monte Vista put six men ahead of the Highlander's first man. Those who finished in the top six were Carter, Joe Mears, Ray Santos, Tom Lux, Neil Wilson, and Gilbert Arroyo.

The Monarchs are now aiming for the Mt. SAS Invitational which is to be held in Los Angeles on Oct. 26.

Monte Vista will run in the large school division (3000 students or more although they have only 2100 students).

Westminster, Palos Verdes, and West Torrance should be some of their toughest rivals.

Cajon Speedway

Jim Hitt Captures First Win

Jim Hitt of Lemon Grove captured his first victory of the season at Cajon Speedway Saturday night to move into fourth place in league standings at the track.

The Lemon Grove driver has a total of 3,892 points for season action. Leading in the standings is Tex Kimbrell of Imperial Beach with a 5,222 point total.

Bucky Peralta of El Cajon is in second place with 4,228, while Richard White of Escondido holds down third place with a 3,964 point total.

Hitt has been displaying his talents behind the wheel throughout the season. Without winning one main event he has managed to stay in the top ten from the early part of the season.

The local driver will have a crack of moving into second or third place, depending on how he does between now and Oct. 26 at the track.

In the two remaining races, if he were to win, he could move up into a second place, but it is now impossible to catch Kimbrell who had picked off the 1968 crown.

Kimbrell will receive his crown and title officially after the Grand Prix race that will tap off on Oct. 26 at Cajon Speedway.

To date four net track speed records have been set. Russ Bullen broke the eight lap mark, while Eddie Gray set a new time for 10 laps.

Charlie Brown has the honors for 25 laps while Richard White holds the 50 round title.

More than 70 cars have been entered in the action for this

Saturday night. Racing will tip off at 8 p.m.

The race is expected to be a preview of the Grand Prix.

The main event of the night will see 20 super stock cars racing for honors. It will be a 30 round event.

Helix Harriers After Fourth Win Of Season

BY DON KIENER

The Helix varsity cross country team travels to Mount Miguel, Friday, as they go after their second league victory, and fourth win of the season.

The Highlanders are now 3-1 on the season and 1-1 in league competition.

The Matadors, as usual, have a very strong squad, and are expected to give the Highlanders a tough match. They have the advantage, as they are running on their own course.

"Miguel has a very strong team," said Scot mentor Mike Muirhead, "We'll have to run much better against them than we did against Monte Vista."

Last Friday, the Monarchs stunned the Highlanders with a decisive 15-45 victory to temporarily kill any title hopes for Helix.

Monte Vista's Dave Carter won the meet (9:20) as the Monarchs swept the field winning the first six positions.

Sophomore, Ed Mendoza, was first for the Scots placing seventh and bettering his own personal record (9:37). Also scoring for Helix were Darryl Simmons, eighth, and Steve Pitt, ninth.

"There's no question about it," said Coach Muirhead, "they're good!" Although the Highlanders ran a good race, nine of the Monarchs had their best times ever. It was the best team performance ever recorded on the Helix 1.9 mile.

The Monte Vistas made the day complete by sweeping both the Freshman and Junior varsity meets.

Padres Get Ollie Brown In Draft

SAN DIEGO, Calif. — Ollie Lee Brown, 24, power-hitting right-hander from the San Francisco Giants Organization, was the top draft pick of the San Diego Padres during the National League expansion draft held Monday (October 14) in Montreal, Canada.

Brown, 6-3, 180-pound outfielder, spent most of the 1966 season, all of 1967 and part of 1968 with the San Francisco club, hitting .267 in 1967 with 13 home runs and 53 runs batted in. He was credited with seven game-winning hits in 1967. A groin injury and military service curtailed his playing time the last two months of that season.

HOSPITAL LOANS. Legislative Constitutional Amendment. Authorizes the Legislature to insure or guarantee loans to nonprofit corporations and public agencies for construction, improvement, or repair of any public or nonprofit hospital and other specified facilities, and for purchase of original equipment.

INSURANCE COMPANIES: GROSS PREMIUM TAX. Legislative Constitutional Amendment. Permits the Legislature to exclude from base of gross premium tax on insurance companies premiums or contracts providing retirement benefits for persons employed by public schools, public educational institutions or collegiate grade, or non profit organization engaged in scientific research.

THIS newspaper presents to its readers, in a five part series, both the pros and cons, for Propositions 1-9 that will be on the ballot in the Nov. 5 general elections. This presentation does not reflect the opinions of this publication nor is it intended to direct the voter to cast his or her ballot in any particular direction.

The Pros and Cons are a reproduction of part of those that have been compiled by George H. Murphy, Legislative Counsel, and certified as correct by Frank M. Jordan, Secretary of State.

Hospital Loans

Pro

A "Yes" vote on this measure is a vote to authorize the Legislature to insure or guarantee loans made by private or public lenders to nonprofit corporations and public agencies.

This measure, if passed, will assure that Calif. can continue to build necessary community hospitals, clinics, tuberculosis hospitals and facilities for the mentally ill and retarded.

The move will also authorize a constructive alternate that would see a State-supported mortgage insurance plan to match Federal funds.

It could save Calif. taxpayers $20 million per year. Instead of outright grants of money, the state would help necessary hospital projects by providing mortgage insurance.

Hospital leaders, who ask for a "Yes" vote on Prop. 5 intend the program to be self-supporting. Loan fees would provide administrative costs and reserves for possible default, making the use of tax money necessary.

This presentation was made by Stephen P. Teale, MD who is State senator of Calaveras County; Lou Cusanovich, senator from L.A. County and Joseph M. Kennick, senator from L.A. County.

Con

A "No" vote on this proposition is a vote to retain the existing constitutional limitations upon the power of the Legislature to insure or guarantee such loans.

Senate Constitutional Amendment 28, if approved by the voters of Calif. will extend the credit of the State of Calif. to the financing of non-profit corporations and public agencies.

The State would be insuring or guaranteeing the loans which they receive, for construction, improvements and the purchase of equipment in the area of hospitals, extended care facilities, including out patient facilities and a facility for the mentally ill.

If the measure was limited to general non-profit hospitals so far as private lenders were concerned, this would not be so objectionable, but the measure is too extensive and cannot in this respect be compared to the Calif. Veteran Home and Farm Program.

This presentation was made by senators H. L. Richardson, John G. Schmitz and Clark L. Bradley.

Pure uncoined silver ingots were used as money in China and other Asian countries from 1259 to 1933.

Retirement Benefits

Pro

A "Yes" on this measure would authorize the Legislature to exclude premiums paid on contracts for retirement benefits for employees of educational institutions along with others, from the basis of the annual tax levied on insurance companies.

This proposition has been placed before the voters by action of the Calif. Legislature because of a recent Supreme Court decision.

The decision subjects the retirement programs of Calif.'s independent, non-tax-supported colleges and universities to discriminatory taxation.

It will permit the legislature to avoid the imposition of a discriminatory tax on our independent colleges and universities.

It will also permit the legislature to equalize the tax treatment of public and private sectors of education.

This proposed amendment authorizes the legislature to continue tax relief on retirement programs of colleges and universities and other similarly situated schools and organizations.

This presentation was made by Bob Moretti, chairman of the Assembly Committee on Finance and Insurance, Jesse M. Unruh and Robert T. Monagan, Assembly Republican leader.

Con

A "No" vote is a vote against authorizing the Legislature to grant the above exclusion.

There is no good reason why employees of Public Schools and colleges should receive preferred treatment over the rest of the population, in regard to taxation of insurance premiums for their retirement program.

These employees already are the recipients of many advantages and benefits through their employment in the public education system.

The time has come for the people to take a tight rein over their public educational system. All requests for funds, benefits and preferred treatment should be carefully scrutinized.

To a large degree, the public educational system is undermining the moral fabric of our youth, and weakening the state and nation through its permissive methods, and abandonment of fundamentals and proper discipline.

For the above reasons, the people of Calif. are respectfully suggested to express their dissatisfaction with the performance of their public education system.

This presentation was made by Fred E. Huntley, of Berkeley, Calif.

Taxpayers and residents throughout the 3rd Supervisorial District know that Robert C. "Bob" Dent is always ready and willing to help solve their problems, and he is stepping lively these days to meet the demands of his office and campaigning for Re-Election.

A WORD OF WARNING

I am sure that many of you are as thoroughly convinced as I am of the need to keep "Bob" Dent on the San Diego Board of Supervisors to preserve the board's stability against the inroads of free-spending political opportunists who are determined to dictate and take over direction of both city and county government as rapidly as they can elect their favorite captive candidates.

This is in line with the county government policy to keep up with the times in both efficiency and cost saving for taxpayers.

School Traffic Safety Problems are Getting Supervisor Dent's Attention

Dr. Marvin Williams of Spring Valley discusses traffic safety for school crossings with Supervisor "Bob" Dent. Through Dent's request, the San Diego County Board of Supervisors have approved the formation of a Study Committee to further safeguard school crossings throughout the county areas.

Trivial Accidents Can Be Serious

By Tommy Thomas

Just the other day the Spring Valley ambulance crew picked up a boy at Mt. Miguel High School, who had been "pushed" onto the ground by someone.

He was taken to a doctor's office for observation.

Over the past couple of years, several youngsters have been picked up at schools, due to minor accidents. While none of them have seemed serious, never-the-less, all have needed attention.

No matter how trivial an accident may seem, it could turn into something more serious.

I was interested in a short item in the County News Service, recently, under the heading, "Sharp Stomach Blow Needs Close Watching," which reads:

Such commonplace childhood accidents as a tumble from a jungle gym or a bike can have serious consequences if they resulted in a sharp blow to the abdomen.

This warning was sounded in an article in the American Journal of Roentgenology by Drs. Lionel W. Young and James T. Adams of the University of Rochester Medical Center.

Four children who suffered such injuries seemed unhurt immediately after their accidents. Some hours later, however, acute abdominal pain and vomiting began.

X-ray examination of areas in the neighborhood of the pancreas showed that all suffered injury to the pancreas, requiring surgery.

The pancreas cannot be visualized directly since it is so deeply imbedded. Such injuries,

Adults, too, can suffer serious unsuspected injury from an abdominal blow. For this reason, Cook County Hospital in Chicago now requires that all patients with a blunt abdominal injury be X-rayed for possible damage to the spleen.

Marvin Hodge, 88-year old father of Jesse Hodge, Casa de Oro insurance man, has been transferred to Casa Blanca Rest Home.

Marvin and wife, Jane, celebrated their 55th wedding anniversary recently. Jane still lives in a mobile home on Bancroft dr.

In the "take-it-easy" department, we have Charlie Burke, owner of Alfonso's Pizzeria on Grand ave., Spring Valley.

Charlie was taken to Grossmont Hospital recently, suffering from what was thought to be a heart attack.

He was to have been released from the hospital sometime this week.

Area Real Estate Sales Slow Down

Real estate sales were down in Spring Valley, Lemon Grove and La Mesa during the month of Sept. according to James C. Downs, Jr., editor of the "San Diego County Real Estate Trends" publication.

Downs said that a total of 284 sales were recorded during the month. The Aug. total was 339 while in Sept. of 1967, Sept. registered 251 sales for the area.

other school districts in the state.

If the district has to release staff members, even larger classes, curtailed curriculum along with split sessions would be required to handle the responsibility of the educational system.

The district would have to eliminate extra-curricular activities, restrict supplies and would experience a deterioration of facilities.

School administrators and members of the Governing Board said that they agree that a severe burden is borne by the local taxpayers in this area.

They continued, "The State of Calif. has, over the past ten years, failed to provide its fair share of the financing of public education in the state."

"Seriously consideration at the legislative level is being given to reorganize the structure of taxation in Calif. with a view toward easing the local property tax burden," they said.

YMCA activities at six facilities throughout San Diego county are enjoyed by more than 50,000 boys and men. United Crusade contributions help to support the YMCA.

The supervisor did return the call and supplied the information requested. He had no explanation for the secrecy except that it forced all information to flow through one channel and one channel alone.

This is the kind of government silliness that has contributed the political upheaval that appears to be coming to a climax at the November elections.

If there is a new regime, it must take strong steps to see that this, and other types of self-imposed secrecy, is stamped out.

Bears do not hibernate just during cold weather. Even in the warm climates they are known to hibernate from two to six months.

Some powerful force in California is trying to scare the pants off the citizenry by threatening loss of jobs and confiscatory taxes in an effort

Fair play should require these sources to circulate information impartially so that voters have all the facts pro and con, especially the schools which are forbidden by the Educational Code to take sides on political issues. The schools enjoy tax money from all the property owners and many of us are in favor of Proposition 9.

Dear Editor:

It has come to my attention that principals in some of our schools are ordering teachers to pass out literature against Proposition 9 at PTA meetings. Water Districts also have included propaganda against Proposition 9 with water bills.

Dear Editor:

If you're so smart as to keep the library safe, why can't you get the Post Office (Lemon Grove) to fix the stamp machine for week-ends. It would seem that someone could be trusted to put a roll of stamps in it when it runs out — often on Saturday night. Many of us make trips there on Sunday.

No Stamps! There is no other business operated like Post Office business.

With God's richest blessing, I remain,

Many of the doctors in Grossmont Hospital are my personal friends, and I have the utmost confidence in their ability as doctors, but there is something wrong with administration and personnel ambition for a bigger and greater and more expensive hospital building.

You remember that when we voted them the last bonds that they were going to build us a branch hospital in Spring Valley to take care of the Lemon Grove and Spring Valley population.

I wonder what happened to this promise that was made to us at that time. Now, we are being asked to vote for more bonds.

I think that the people of this community should stand up to the administrators of Grossmont Hospital and say, "You have gone the limit; we do not propose to give you a blank check."

In doing this we will bring to task those squanderers of public monies without any thought of the people that have to produce them.

We have too many retired people, aged people, and disabled people in this area whose income does not increase every year, and this should be taken into consideration and until now it has not been given much thought.

As president of the United Taxpayers Association, I think that our people should look, listen, and vote no on the hospital bond. I know that you will understand my spirit in this thing and my thoughts as

Dear Editor:

You know that I have always stood for good government. I have always tried to encourage the things that I felt were for the good of our people, our Community, and our state and nation.

But, now, we have come to the place where some of our public officials are just piling taxes upon taxes upon taxes on us, bonds and more bonds, particularly as it relates to the hospital bonds in Grossmont.

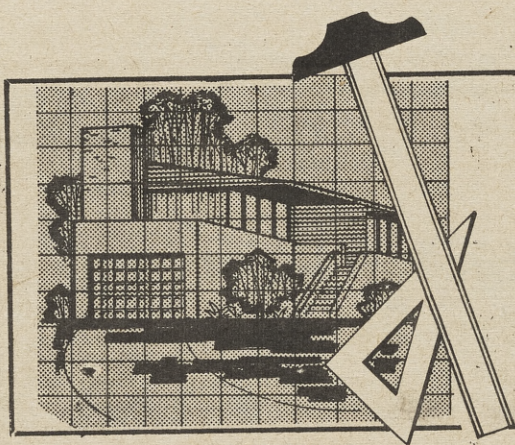

I thought that in a free country like ours, we were to encourage as much as possible free and private enterprise.

Yet, we have been called upon to subsidize a hospital program when they are being built at private expense hospital after hospital, one large one in El Cajon, one in Mission Valley, and others throughout the county.

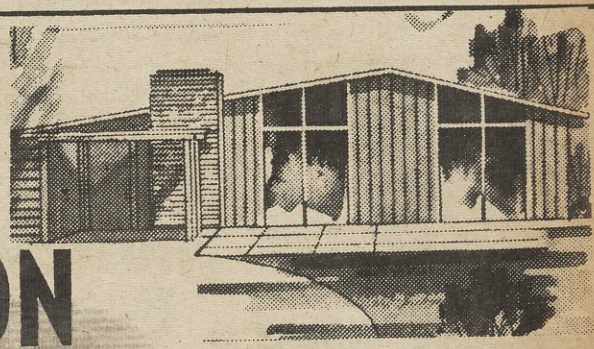

Now, surely, these people must be making money or they would not build them. The rates in many instances are lower than they are at the public built and subsidized hospitals.

I had reported to me the talk that was made at the Lemon Grove Men's Club last week where someone asked the question, "How come the giving of one aspirin costs 75¢?" The reply was services. "Surely, it doesn't cost 75¢ to administer one 2c aspirin. Something is wrong somewhere."

The people of our community should not and must not vote a blank check of several million dollars for the expansion of an institution that is costing us more than hospitals of private institutions

Formal and Informal Dining

A dining room may appropriately be either restful or stimulating. If used only for dining, its decoration may provide more drama of color in draperies, upholstery and walls than do other interiors of the home.

However, as is the trend today, the dining room may be used as an additional sitting room with a sofa or easy chair as part of the furnishings and so require a less exciting background.

As the reader looks over the pictures of recently designed rooms, he will observe a wide variety of treatments ranging from those in which the formal dignity of the past is translated into the contemporary style, to informal and often gay interiors.

In the latter, color, texture, and the scintillating effect of plastics and glass may be important.

The culmination of a dining room's decor, one remembers, is reached when the table is in formal use, the sparkling glass, silver, and china completing the setting.

In houses with a distinctly modern architectural layout, the dining room may be separated from the living room merely by a wide opening or a low parapet.

This close relating of dining to living room makes it a natural part of the latter interior when more space is needed. To reinforce this unity the wall treatment, floor coverings, or an important color in the other furnishings, is made the same in both rooms.

What is put on the walls in a dining room contributes more to the general effect than in other interiors. One large picture to a wall is about as many as most dining room decorative schemes will support, therefore, these should be chosen with great discrimination.

A piece of sculpture or pottery is especially effective because they are not often seen in a dining room. Murals are always in order, and some of the more unusual wallpapers can be introduced for one or more walls in contrast to a plain color.

About mirrors there is a diversity of opinion. Some decorators feel that a large wall mirror which reflects the room's occupants is too insistent. However, some of the newest dining spaces have walls adorned with the large, frameless plate glass mirrors which provide a dramatic sparkle. Painted or etched decoration on the glass is sometimes a happy compromise.

Materials Firm Offers 4 Good Fix-up Tips

In the life of almost every home-owning family there comes a time when it seems impossible to live another day without moving into a new house that will be more spacious, more luxurious, and more comfortable.

However, if buying that new house is either impossible or financially impractical, the added room and comfort-even the luxury-can be obtained by remodeling your present home. Quite often, families forget what good points their existing homes have. And your home has some. Why else did you buy it in the first place?

Let's suppose that all the members of your family sat down together to discuss the possibility of remodeling, and that when the discussion was over, the decision was made to add a family room to the home. However, a family room might well mean something different to every member of the family. Make a mental note of what a family room means to you. Then ask other members of your family what they think a family room should be.

Some probable answers are: a game room, a second living room, a sewing room, a library, a place for the kids to have parties, a television room, a den, and sometimes guest bedroom.

If you don't decide in advance exactly what your family room is going to be, you will be dissatisfied with it when it's finished, because no one room can be all of these things.

However, National Gypsum Company, one of the country's largest manufacturers of building materials, has some tips for homeowners who are preparing to remodel.

1. Decide exactly what you're trying to accomplish. Probably the least expensive way to add a family room is to convert space already existing in your home—a porch, a basement, or a seldom-used bedroom, for example. However, the most satisfactory way to do the job is to build on a new room. Whichever you decide, make sure you have definite, workable goals in mind. Think in terms of room size and location. Consider your family's changing needs. Try to build in flexibility, and be prepared to be flexible yourself.

2. Get professional help immediately. A reputable contractor or building materials dealer can tell you quickly whether your plans are workable. He can advise you about building codes and restrictions, and can suggest new materials that you may never even have heard of. For example, National Gypsum's Durasan is a vinyl covered gypsum wall board that is fire proof, washable, and inexpensive. (Cont'd on Page B)

The soft brown and tawny white of the calf's hide chair coverings in this dining room, provide opportunity for a varied choice of wall colors. They should be rich and somewhat dark tints, as suggested in this Modernage interior, where the end walls are darker than the side walls. The carpet is putty gray and the furniture is bleached oak. Typical of the trend toward simple construction and take-apart design in furniture is the table. Its heavy plate-glass top is placed on curved glass supports, which in turn are held up by being set into slots in the oak bases. No adjoining fixtures are used. Besides reflecting the table, the mirror wall shows the modern style serving table at the other end of the room. Designed by Modernage Furniture Corp.

New Corner Shower Elegant Space Saver

A new concept in corner shower units has been introduced by the Showerfold Division of Kinkead Industries Incorporated.

The "Corinthian" combines the beauty, elegance and practicality of the Empress shower door with a new rounded Marblemold shower receptor.

The Corinthian is a space-saver as well as an attractive unit for any bathroom, Miller said. It provides for a spacious and elegant look in the showering area while taking up less space than the old fashioned conventional square or angle shower stall, thus making a smaller bathroom area bigger.

Miller pointed out that the Corinthian permits builders to make the shower appear as an integral part of the bath, while still keeping an open, spacious appearance. "It eliminates the 'boxy' appearance given by the conventional square or angle free standing shower units," he added, "and offers a new concept in smaller second bathrooms by allowing the home-builder to provide a shower without congesting the room."

According to Miller, Corinthian's versatility makes it ideal for installation in the baths of master-bedroom suites in homes as well as apartments, motels and hotels.

The Empress enclosure combines gold or silver satin finish aluminum frame with flexible Du Pont Alathon panels in a selection of nine colors including red apple, blueberry blue, avocado green and shell pink. Instead of two rigid panels of two walls with a swinging door, the Empress folds open from either side for complete access to the shower, eliminating the bulky look found in other types of units.

The coordinated Marblemold shower floor is a breeze to install, Miller said, and is available in colors to blend or contrast with the doors. The marbled colors include soft-tone white, shell pink, Dresden blue, sunflower yellow, pearl beige and avocado green.

Windows An Important Plus Factor in Home's Beauty...

When the night-capped papa of "The Night Before Christmas" fame spotted Santa through his window, he may have been setting the pace for future Christmas observations.

Much of the holiday scene is framed by windows.

That's where we stand to watch colored lights reflected in the snow and carolers wending their way from house to house. We hang ribboned wreaths in windows, string Christmas cards across the pane, and set the tree within easy sight of passers-by.

The reason may be that Christmas is a time when homes are literally "open" to family and friends, and figuratively "open" to the holiday spirit. We want people to "see" the holiday reflected in our home.

But, what about the rest of the year? Windows still should be an outward sign of warmth and hospitality.

Today, windows are designed for visual beauty, as well as convenience and efficiency. According to the Andersen Corporation, the leading window manufacturer, windows may occupy as much as 40 percent of a house's exterior wall area. This makes them an important factor in house beauty — inside and out.

There are a variety of good-looking window styles from which to choose. Casements are popular for their classic look, and are often used with fixed sash to form stylish bay windows. Other attractive styles are double-hungs with removable grilles that give a divided-light appearance; awnings used with fixed sash units to form picture windows that allow ventilation, and gliding windows that give picture-window visibility in an operating unit.

To this line-up of window styles has been added a low-maintenance window that is always ready for guests.

3. Visit your lending agency early. Don't spend a lot of time and money in planning until you find out whether you can get a loan. Some questions your banker will consider: will the remodeling add so much to your home's value that it will be unsalable in its present location? What's the state of your present mortgage? And assuming you can get a loan... and most people can for an intelligently planned remodeling job... don't accept the first terms offered. Shop around, and don't let anyone hurry you into signing papers.

4. Make detailed plans with your contractor. And insist on a sound estimate of costs. Reputable contractors... those participating in National Gypsum Company's Certified Remodeling Contractor program, for example... are experts at estimating. And they want to give you an estimate. A contractor who doesn't want to give you an estimate, is reluctant to explain how he arrives at his estimate, or hesitates to put it in writing, is probably one you'll want to take a second look at before signing a contract.

Planning too carefully for a remodeling job is impossible. Planning can save you time, money and disappointment.

And planning a remodeling job can make you wonder why you ever considered moving in the first place.

Ten Million Bathrooms Needed By Americans

America's 200 million people need at least 10 million new bathrooms.

This estimate came from Charles V. Myers, vice president and general manager of Eljer Plumbingware Division of Wallace-Murray Corporation. Such a rise in the number of bathrooms is needed, he argued, before the country can "consider itself adequately equipped by modern family hygiene standards."

Millions of bathrooms in the nation still have wall-to-wall lavatories. Others have free-standing bathtubs and long-obsolete "wash-down" toilets; the tubs provide "protected refuges" for dust, dirt, and household pests, and the toilets are unsanitary and inefficient. Walls and floors in these substandard bathrooms are impossible to keep clean. In contrast modern bathrooms contain adequate storage space, counter-top lavatories, wall-mounted toilets for easier floor maintenance, better lighting and easy-to-clean wall and floor surfacing materials.

Referring to the recent U.S. Department of Census disclosure that the nation's population had just reached the 200-million mark, Mr. Myers commented that Americans have not progressed as far as they should in equipping themselves with new bathroom facilities. In 1915, when the 100-million milestone was attained, the nation was millions of bathrooms short. Today, thanks to education and example, people expect better bathroom equipment—and more of it, and by the new standards we appear to be "relatively, almost as far behind as we were in 1915."

The estimate of the need for 10 million new bathrooms, Mr. Myers noted is conservative. It does not reflect views of home builders and the plumbingware industry that new "average price" single-family homes will increasingly contain three bathrooms.

"Waiting to use the bathroom is no longer considered a cartoon-worthy subject, but there is still too much waiting going on. The bathroom stands in dire need of upgrading, both in appearance and usefulness."

Test Interest, Rent Enjoyment With A Piano

Chicago (NFS) — If you'd like your child to have the opportunity of learning to play the piano, but hesitate to purchase an instrument until you're sure of his continuing interest, it makes good sense to rent a piano and give the lessons a trial.

Trial-by-rental plans have been so successful, according to records kept by the Story & Clark Piano Company over a number of years, that close to 85 per cent of the families who rent pianos decide within three months to buy them.

Most music dealers now offer brand new pianos at reasonable rental fees — as little as $8 to $12 a month for a handsome new console — plus delivery charges.

If the family decides to buy the instrument, rental fees and delivery charges are subtracted from the purchase price and made part of the down payment.

PROTECT ROOF FROM DRIVING RAINS

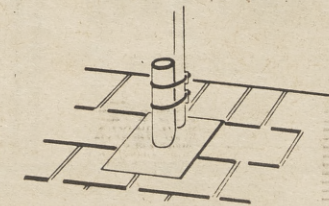

Somewhat the roof generally gets neglected when it should be checked first before the gutter hangers checked to see severities of weather take hold. The roof is subjected to severe exposure by rain, wind, sun, and not until a storm causes and the area around guy-wire one or more serious leaks is the homeowner aware of his neglect.

Responsible roofers will check a roof free of charge and give estimates for any needed repairs or replacements. Preventive maintenance can avert rain damage to walls, ceilings, floors and furnishings.

Damaged or missing shingles must be replaced. It takes a careful inspection to determine if portions of many shingles have broken off and blown away or if shingles have cupped or split. Wind and stress may have loosened the roofing nails so heads no longer are in contact with the shingles, and this must be corrected.

Anything that projects through a roof is a danger source for leaks. Flashing around chimneys, pipes and vents and skylights should be inspected.

Should re-roofing be necessary, the homeowner should consider several important factors in selecting a quality roof: resistance to fire, wind and rain; color; uniform quality; insulation value; economy and low maintenance.

With the growing trend to easy-care living, heavyweight fire rated asphalt roofing, designed to last as long as 25 years, is an ideal choice. It also offers the family the assurance of fire safety and protection from flying fire brands and embers which constitute a threat during a fire. It bears the Underwriters' Laboratories Class "C" label for fire resistance as recommended for new construction and remodeling by the International Association of Fire Chiefs and the National Fire Protection Association. Homeowners in some areas will find fire rated asphalt roofing enables the house to qualify for lower fire insurance premiums.

The color of the roof is a very important consideration in the total color styling of a home. Homeowners can select from a wide variety of colors and blends.

The color selected may have an important bearing on the home's year-round comfort because white or lighter-colored ceramic coated granules reflect solar heat in the summer, helping to reduce air-cooling costs.

Have Fun With Espaliering And Draw Awe'd Compliments

Train a plant to grow in an interesting pattern on an outside wall of your home and watch the passersby slow down and admire it. And, best of all, this kind of home-landscaping project is great fun, according to the American Association of Nurserymen.

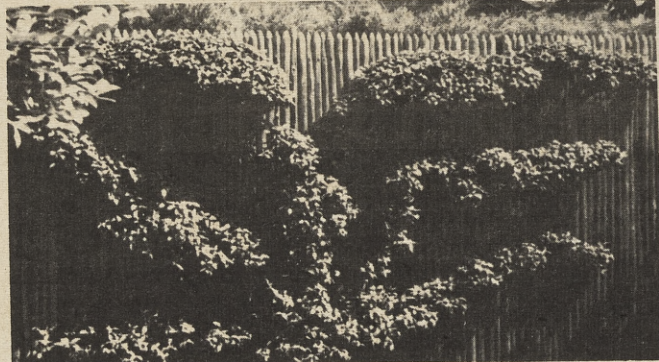

When you prune and train a plant to grow into a flat form against walls, fences, trellises or wire frames, the plant is called an espalier (es-PAL-yare). The decorative effects are striking and almost limitless.

Espaliering is not difficult but it does require frequent pruning and tying of the branches.

Vines in this category include English ivy, winter-creeper and bittersweet.

Good shrubs to train include camellia, flowering quince, escallonia, fuchsia, lantana, pyracantha and yew. Trees often espaliered include dwarf fruits, figs, and magnolias.

For location, choose walls or fences in partial shade rather than those in full sun. Areas facing east are good. To give your espalier room to breathe, build a trellis of wood or wire about six inches away from the wall and of the size and shape you want the final plant to be. Be sure the framework is strong enough to support the final plant.

PET PLANT—An espaliered plant adds charm and interest to any lawn. All it takes is regular pruning and tying of branches according to a plan you develop. This espalier uses a stockade fence and a backdrop but a trellis, the wall of your house, or any vertical support will do. Areas facing east are best for espaliering.

Start with young plants (one or two years old) with side branches already shooting out about where you want them. Plant them in the normal way, but go easy on the feeding. A fast-growing espalier is harder to control and train.

If you can't find a young plant with side branches where you want them, just cut the main trunk down to the point where you want the branches to develop and they will.

Bend the branches gently and fasten the framework with cloth or yarn. Don't use wire. Cut away all branches that don't fit the pattern you want. From there on, just train or prune the new branches as they develop.

When your espalier is fully grown, you can bet it will be the talk of the neighborhood as well as a source of continuing pleasure to you.

TWO-STORY ESPALIER—An established espalier flows gracefully up the side of this house near the entrance to provide a welcome decorative effect.

NOW! A GAS FURNACE USING LESS FUEL, AND QUIETER, TOO

Good news for the homeowner beset by rising costs of living and by the rising din of noises that affront the ear.

New solid state controls that will operate a gas furnace in the home with less fuel and less noise were announced today by the Typhoon Air Conditioning Division, Hupp, Inc.

Developed by scientists for use in the electronic systems of space vehicles, solid state circuitry was applied to home furnaces for the first time by company engineers.

The electronically activated furnace, instead of switching on and off, circulates warm air uniformly throughout the home, eliminating cold pockets of stagnant air and convection drafts.

It is designed for summer-time cooling. Motor and blowers are sized for air conditioning — and will comfortably handle a 2½, 3 or 4-ton cooling system.

A simple, one-time screw driver adjustment sets the blower speed for proper air delivery on the cooling cycle. No seasonal re-adjustment is needed. Solid state controls automatically adjust the blower speed to the required air delivery when the thermostat is switched from heat to cool.

The furnace can easily be adapted to any kind of gas — either natural or LP.

Service requirements are minimal. Of one thousand units tested at an accelerated rate simulating years of use, only one failure was reported. If necessary, the solid state device can be checked and replaced in minutes since all units are serviceable from the front.

Plant Roses In the Fall —It's Easy

All-American Rose Selections, noted as a highly experienced group of hybridizers, growers and introducers of fine roses, have long urged gardeners throughout the temperate regions to plant roses in the fall. From their own 24 years of growing experience and their unequalled testing facilities spread throughout the country, the members of AARS long ago learned the advantages of fall planting in all but the more northern areas of the United States.

Although rose plants make little or no growth in the fall after they are planted, the ground settles firmly about the roots during the winter and the plants are established and ready to start active growth with the event of warm weather, long before most spring roses are purchased and planted.

Planting roses in the fall is a very easy procedure. Simply carry out the few fundamental practices shown in the accompanying diagrams.

After you have your location chosen and the ground prepared, get your roses, prune all canes back to 18 inches, train any damaged roots and plant as soon as possible. For roses that will give satisfactory and outstanding performance choose the All-America award winners, all of which bear the emblem on a green and white identification tag attached to each plant.

1. Prepare and fertilize the bed. Dig hole 15" to 18" wide and as deep. Add quart of peat moss mixed with ½ cup of fertilizer. Mix well with soil. Form a mound in center and position rose on mound.

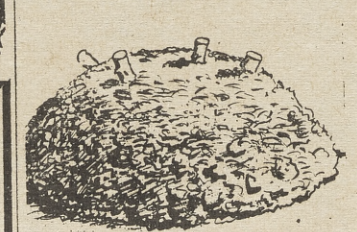

2. See that roots are spread out naturally and that bud union (swelling at base of stems) is level with ground. Scatter several inches of loose soil over roots and firm well with foot.

3. Fill remainder of hole with water and allow to drain. See that the bud union remains at ground level.

4. Fill remainder of hole with soil and tamp. The plant is now ready for the mound of soil which will protect it against rapid freezing and thawing during the winter.
